MEDIATOR MENTOR

2nd annual “paying it forward” session

Please join us on December 8, 2021 from 5:30 - 7:00pm when experienced dispute resolution practitioners will “pay it forward” to new practitioners (and others who may be interested) by sharing their wisdom, experiences and practical ideas on what helped facilitate their career development in dispute resolution. In this interview-style panel, moderated by Marc Bhalla, three well-known professionals, who excel in their work, will answer a range of questions about career development and share tips and tricks for effectively navigating the ADR Profession.

Panel

Marc Bhalla, Panel Moderator, (he/him) [biracial] is a mediator and arbitrator. He earned a Master of Laws in Dispute Resolution at Osgoode Hall Law School. Marc holds the Chartered Mediator and Chartered Arbitrator designations.

Rose Campbell is a Qualified Mediator, Certified Workplace Fairness Analyst and Professional Coach. She is also a Wellness Manager with the Government of Canada. She specializes in diversity and inclusion work, as well as training and conflict management.

Afsana Gibson-Chowdhury is a designated Qualified Mediator and British lawyer. She is the founder of 'Gibson Chowdhury', a Toronto based mediation boutique, specializing in renovation, construction, civil and commercial mediation.

Christine Kilby is a mediator in Toronto. Prior to her career in ADR, Christine practiced civil litigation at a global law firm, and draws on that experience in her mediation practice. Christine enjoys mediating workplace conflicts and assisting business owners, particularly startup founders, to resolve their disputes in a cost-effective and efficient way.
