

Authentic Allyship

Workshop for ADR Practitioners

An interactive and practical application of the book
Reflections on Allyship by Andrea Menard and Marc Bhalla

Inform your ADR Practice and Learn how to Transform the System | March 5, 2024, 10am – 2pm, 8 CEE Points

This workshop is thoughtfully designed to be an interactive and practical application of the book Reflections on Allyship, led by the book's authors. Participants will explore authentic allyship efforts of non-Indigenous people with the Indigenous community in an ADR context and beyond. Attendees will explore the meaning of allyship and why it matters to Ontario's dispute resolution practitioners. Common missteps and the problem with performative gestures will be unpacked, along with the role each of us has in accomplishing positive change through collaboration and overcoming systemic bias.

All current and prospective ADR Practitioners should attend this workshop to better understand their role and responsibility in reconciliation and to explore, from a practical lens, how to fulfill such. The TRC Calls to Action provide timely and relevant responsibilities upon the ADR sector and it is important for all practitioners to be more aware of what Indigenous Peoples have experienced and how to appropriately collaborate with and support them.

This workshop will be led by the Founders of the Authentic Allyship
Project (AAPJ):

Indigenous Scholar,
Andrea Menard LLB, LLM &
Non-Indigenous ally,
Marc Bhalla LLM, C.Med, C.Arb

Registration

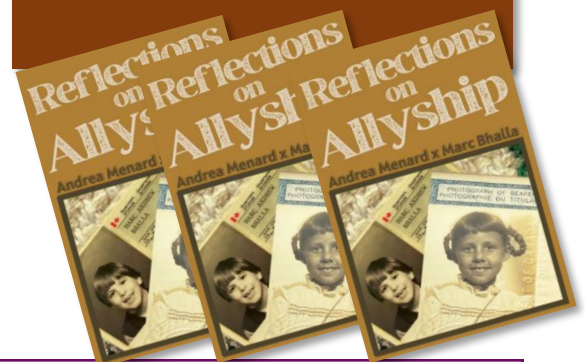

ADRIO Member
$130

ADRIC Affiliate Member
$150

Regular (Non-Member)
$170

Registration includes a copy of the book, Reflections on Allyship, mailed directly to your home.

This workshop is free for all Indigenous people. Please email events@adr-ontario.ca for more information.

Register: www.adr-ontario.ca/AAPJ