

Introduction to Arbitration For Mediators

Service Expansion Workshop

Expand your practice. Remain competitive in the ADR workforce. | November 25, 12:00pm – 4:00pm (Online) | 8 CEE Pts

Mediation and arbitration are distinct processes. Many practitioners do both.

Increasingly, established arbitrators delve into the facilitation of mediation; for aspiring and established mediators, arbitration can offer the prospect of service expansion, too.

This interactive program offers practical perspective into leveraging mediation skills to excel at decision making. It will be an interactive introduction to arbitration for mediators. It will help mediators consider expanding their practices to include arbitration and support arbitrators as they further develop the collaborative skills good decision-makers need.

This workshop counts for 8 CEE points towards the educational maintenance requirements of the Q.Med and C.Med designations.

Workshop Instructor:

Mitchell Rose, C.Med, Q.Arb

Chartered Mediator
Qualified Arbitrator
Former Litigator

Registration

(Includes access to the live session, workshop materials, plus recording link for on-demand streaming.)

ADRIO Member, $130

ADRIC Affiliate Member, $150

Non-Member, $170

Together, We'll Explore:

The Fundamentals of Arbitration as a Practice

The Arbitrator's Role

Obstacles for Mediators Arbitrating to Overcome

An Arbitrator's Qualifications

Tools and Techniques

The Business and Practice of Arbitration – Simplifying the Complicated

Med-Arb

Register: www.adr-ontario.ca/service-expansion-intro2arb